Introducing... The 2010 Scholarship Recipients

Linda Jimenez. In spite of an uncertain home life, Linda has taken full advantage of opportunities at South High School. A resident of Glendale, CO, Linda lives with a sister since her mother was deported. In addition to her 4.6 GPA and #1 class rank, she is Co-President of the Student Body and through JROTC, she has “participated in every activity and extracurricular team the program sponsors.” Linda has been accepted to study Biology at Colorado College in Colorado Springs and wants to become a doctor.

Joshua Trevathan is from Frederick, CO and has been home-schooled since 5th grade. Josh also picked up courses from both Frederick High School and Front Range Community College in addition to working and extensive volunteering. He will study at Whitworth University in Washington.

Marissa Munger

will be graduating this May from Fowler High School where she made an impact within only 2 years, both in FBLA and Yearbook staff. She is headed to CSU-Pueblo with the ambitious plan to acquire both her undergraduate and Master's degrees in business within the next 5 years.

Joshua Herrera has attended Maranatha Christian in Arvada since Pre-school. He will attend The School of Mines for chemical engineering. In addition to studies, sports and volunteering, Josh takes care of his family: an ailing mother and uncle, as well as his younger siblings.

Stephanie Flores A 2009 IB graduate from Greeley West, Stephanie just completed her first year at DU studying Biology. She intends to become a general physician with a desire to work in clinics serving the underserved.

Shane Hogge - In January 2010, Shane completed his required Dakota Ridge High School graduation courses and spent the Spring 2010 semester as a student at Red Rocks Community College.

In Fall 2010, Shane enters Colorado Christian University to study Psychology and Education. In addition to many activities and volunteering, Shane is a Taekwondo instructor.
